GEORGIA TECH MILITARY GRADUATE RESEARCH PROGRAM (MGRP) APPPLICATION

The Georgia Institute of Technology (Georgia Tech) and Georgia Tech Research Institute (GTRI) support U.S. active duty, guard, or reserve military personnel by awarding Military Graduate Research Program (MGRP) fellowships. Military applicants must be pursuing a STEM graduate degree at Georgia Tech (online programs not eligible) while performing related research at GTRI approximately two days a week. Selected military personnel will perform part-time duties as a Military Graduate Research Assistant (MGRA) working alongside GTRI Research Faculty conducting research and solving applied engineering problems on sponsored, real-world, Department of Defense (DoD) related projects. The graduate degree tuition and fees are waived for this program. The MGRA will have both a GTRI research faculty advisor and Georgia Tech academic advisor. Research work may be used for a thesis or special project course credit.
